

STANFORD ENVIRONMENTAL INTERNSHIPS IN CALIFORNIA

Description:

The Stanford Woods Institute for the Environment, in collaboration with the Haas Center for Public Service and Stanford in Government, will be offering undergraduates paid summer internships that provide a hands-on introduction to environmental policy work.

The internships are full-time (35-40 hours/week) for ten consecutive weeks and will begin on/about June 19, 2017. Students who are selected will receive mentoring from environmental professionals and directly contribute to solving important sustainability challenges that are facing the public.

Apply through Stanford in Government (SIG): <https://sig.stanford.edu/fellowships/>

Organization: Stanford Woods Institute for the Environment
Haas Center for Public Service

Deadline: Tuesday, February 7, 2017

Location: California – Internships TBA

External or Stanford Fellowship: Stanford

Open to: Undergraduates

Duration: Summer

Requirements:

SPRING quarter 2017:

- Enrollment in Haas' Public Service Internship Preparation (PSIP) Workshop Series (Spring Qtr – 1 unit) EARTHSYS 9/URBANST 101/ARTSINST 40/EDUC 9/PUBLPOL 74/HUMBIO 9
- Complete Haas Center's Principles of Ethical and Effective Service workshop course (date TBA)
- Commit to working full-time (35-40 hours week) for 9-10 consecutive weeks
- Submit all required online forms and paperwork
- Participate in SIG program orientation (date TBA)
- Meet with Haas staff for a small group program orientation

SUMMER 2017

- Submit a project report, complete a program evaluation, and correspond with donor(s) as requested by program staff

FALL 2017

- Debrief with academic mentors at least once
- Participate in outreach activity to share your experiences and help publicize the program

Students are responsible for arranging and paying for their own housing and transportation during the internship.

Applications will be available through SIG: <https://sig.stanford.edu/fellowships/>

For more information contact:

Brian Sharbono
Program Manager
Stanford Woods Institute
sharbono@stanford.edu